UNPARALLELED NETWORKING

This event is most valuable, it is a place where there is openness, everyone is welcome - governments, private sector, innovators, academics, technical people - and this multi-stakeholder spirit that SCCN2017 is now living is frankly the spirit of the new networked world in which we are living - and I am delighted to be here.

Simon Chikosh, VP Supply Chain Planning, Schneider Electric

MOMENTS FROM SCCN2017

HOW SUCCESSFUL WAS OUR EVENT?

Key Statistics

The Supply Chain Innovation Summit 2017 China Focus (SCCN2017) attracted high-level representatives from FMCG, Hi-tech, Retail, 3PL, E-commerce, Manufacturing, Chemical and Pharmacy industries. The audience was largely senior, giving more value to the discussions on topics presented by the speakers.

Event Rating

We received highly-satisfactory marks from our participants in various areas that we sought to measure through our feedback form and these areas are: Speakers (content and delivery) and Case Study Sessions (topics).

Feedback from Attendees

“An event like this provides an opportunity for people to exchange ideas, share their experiences, and maybe go back with one or two ideas that they can actually act on in their respective countries.”

—Tony TSANG
Director of Planning & Forecasting , VF Corporation

“It is a wonderful opportunity to be here in this conference that is about innovating in supply chain, because innovation has become a very important topic around the world where resources are becoming pressured in all countries and there is a need to get better value from the resources that we have for this purpose.”

—Susanna FENG
VP of Asia Product Supply, World Kitchen

“I will join every time, and i hope this Summit can be hold a few more times in one year in Shanghai.”

—Wendy Wang
Director, Supply Chain & Operations, Bestbuy
